

Supplemental Security Income (SSI)

Supplement Security Income (SSI) is a vital source of income for elderly, blind, and disabled individuals who have limited resources and income and who cannot work. The income provided by this program administered by the Social Security Administration (SSA) helps over 8.1 million Americans secure food, clothing, and shelter. More than half these SSI beneficiaries suffer from a mental disorder. What We Can Do for You

Whether you need help applying for SSI benefits or appealing

SSA decisions denying, reducing, or revoking them, Tully Rinckey PLLC in Albany, N.Y. can represent you. Our Social Security law attorneys have over two decades of experience fighting for SSI claimants. Call us today to schedule a free initial consultation with an experience Social Security law attorney, who will assess your case and inform you of your rights. We'll help you determine the best strategy for obtaining or retaining SSI benefits.

No matter what stage of the application or appeals process we begin representing you, you will not be billed until after you win your claim. The federal government regulates our fees, and you will get paid before we do, so don't let financial concerns prevent you from calling Tully Rinckey PLLC in Albany, N.Y. and getting an experienced Social Security lawyer on your side. The SSA requires SSI beneficiaries to be U.S. citizens who have limited resources and income. They must be 65 years of age or older or suffer from statutory blindness or a disability that makes them incapable of performing any substantial gainful activity (SGA). Capital Region residents should immediately contact Tully Rinckey PLLC in Albany, N.Y. if they meet these criteria and are in need of SSI benefits. Call us today.
