

People On the Move for April 28, 2010

Tully Rinckey PLLC of Washington, D.C. added Michael W. Aniton as an associate.

Aniton joins Tully Rinckey after serving in the United States Marine Corps for over four years on active duty and three years in the Reserves. Aniton will provide representation to military service members in all aspects of military criminal and administrative law. As a former Marine Corps Judge Advocate General, is familiar with all legal complexities under the Uniform Code of Military Justice. At Tully Rinckey, Aniton will specialize in providing high quality legal services in all aspects of military law including administrative separations, officer misconduct, Article 15 (Non-Judicial Punishment) proceedings, Article 32 investigations and representation during all phases of Court-Martial proceedings. He will also focus on handling administrative matters relating to the correction of military records and security clearance mitigation. While on active duty in the JAG Corps, Aniton served as both a military prosecutor at the Marine Corps Air Station in Iwakuni, Japan and as appellate government counsel in D.C.

Michael Aniton