

The National Law Journal -- D.C. Moves

Julio Menache
July 5, 2010

TULLY RINCKEY

Tully Rinckey has added three associates to its office in Washington.

Joanna Friedman, 35, focuses on federal-sector labor and employment issues. Previously, she was an associate at Passman & Kaplan in Washington. She earned her J.D. from St. John's University School of Law.

Ricardo Pitts-Wiley, 31, focuses on federal-sector labor and employment issues as well as security clearance matters. Previously, he was an associate at Passman & Kaplan in Washington. He earned his J.D. from American University Washington College of Law.

Rachelle Young, 28, focuses on federal-sector labor and employment issues. Previously, she was an associate at Alan Banov & Associates in Silver Spring, Md. She earned her J.D. from George Washington University Law School.