

Fees and Payments

Tully Rinckey PLLC in Rochester, N.Y. is committed to providing you with personal, professional, and affordable legal services. Below is an overview of Tully Rinckey PLLC's fee, ~~consultation, and billing practices~~ Fees

Fees for legal services rendered can vary from case to case.

An attorney's experience level will influence his or her rates.

While an associate's rates may be lower than a partner's rates, the partner may be able to perform the work faster than an associate.

For most cases, especially complex cases, it is not possible to provide total cost estimates.

Attorney's fees, generally, are charged at hourly rates.

Flat fees may apply to certain bankruptcy, criminal defense, and family and matrimonial law cases.

The attorney, during the initial consultation, will explain common charges for the case at hand.

Consultations

No charge will be applied for the potential client's initial conversation with a firm representative who determines whether a firm attorney could handle the legal matter and schedules a formal consultation.

Initial consultations usually carry a fee, with the exception of certain criminal defense, bankruptcy, and real estate law matters.

Other firms' "free" consultations may not be as comprehensive as consultations with Tully Rinckey PLLC attorneys, and their upfront fees may be higher than ours.

The initial consultation provides you with the opportunity to confidentially explain your legal matter to an attorney, learn about your rights, and determine a course of action to find a resolution.
