

Wills

Should an antiquated law dictate what happens to your property and estate after you pass away? If your answer to this question is a resounding "no," you need a will. A will is a legal document that lets you to decide what will happen to your estate after you die. If you die without a will, New York State's laws will dictate how your estate should be distributed. These laws establish a hierarchy for asset distributions with the surviving spouse at the top, followed by children, grandchildren, parents, and siblings. You distant relatives, friends, and charitable organization will be left with nothing. How We Can Help

Don't be tempted to execute one of those do-it-yourself wills that flood the Internet. Doing so may save you money up front, but you and your loved ones could end up paying down the road if the document does not satisfy state law requirements. Our estate planning attorneys can prepare a will that will not only pass legal specifications but can minimize adverse tax impacts and advance your legacy. Your initial consultation with an experienced estate planning attorney in Rochester, NY is free

.Whether you need to execute a will, or already have a will that needs to be reviewed due to changes in your life, call Tully Rinckey PLLC in Rochester, N.Y. We can help you with the following: Ensuring compliance with New York's witness and other requirements

Disposition of property

Appointment of the will's executor

Tax planning

Appointment of trustees

Appointments of guardians for minor children

The estate planning attorneys at Tully Rinckey PLLC in Rochester, N.Y. can represent people throughout New York's Finger Lakes region, including Batavia, Geneseo, Rochester, Canandaigua, Albion, Waterloo, Lyons, Warsaw, and Penn Yan. To schedule a free initial consultation with an estate planning attorney, call us at 585-492-4700 or e-mail at info@1888law4life.com to view a video about our consultation process.

. Click here

For urgent legal matters, call us 24 hours a day, seven days a week at 518-727-3593. We are responsive to the needs of our current and prospective clients and will respond to phone calls within business hours.

We respond to e-mails within business hours on the same day. For the quickest response, call us.

During normal business hours, our client relations team can help put potential clients in contact with lawyers who can address their legal concerns. Anyone who calls or e-mails us after hours should expect to hear from us during the next business day.

During normal business hours, our client relations team can help put potential clients in contact with lawyers who can address their legal concerns. Anyone who calls or e-mails us after hours should expect to hear from us during the next business day.