

Coast Guard May Sink Career of Crash Survivor

By Susan Crabtree

U.S. Coast Guard Lt. Lance Leone survived a helicopter crash that killed three others and beat back criminal charges of negligent homicide — but now he says he is in a final battle to avoid being sacrificed on the altar of bureaucratic accountability.

Though the Coast Guard dismissed all the charges in the criminal case stemming from the crash, he thinks the service's top leaders are determined to force him out of the Guard, even though he says the causes were beyond his control and the Coast Guard itself was negligent in marking the power lines that downed the helicopter.

But after five crashes in 2010 — the most costly series of accidents in the Coast Guard's recent history — top brass are under pressure to hold someone accountable, Lt. Leone says.

After the thousands of hours of attorneys and review boards have spent scrutinizing his conduct the day of the crash, Lt. Leone continues to follow his family and colleagues' advice to trust the system.

After all, the tight-knit Coast Guard community has been a way of life for many of his family members. His grandfather and grandmother, as well as his father-in-law, were all in the Guard, and his mother and father are in the Guard auxiliary.

Review board

But Lt. Leone said a special review board has been convened solely because of a derogatory report about his conduct that day. He fears that the board, which holds his career in the balance, therefore may be unfamiliar with mitigating details about the case, especially information about the history of the power lines that ensnared his Jayhawk helicopter.

"All I can hope for is, they didn't have all the information," Lt. Leone told The Washington Times. "I think I was singled out because I was the only survivor. The misplaced accountability only becomes apparent after you look at all the facts."

After several positive performance reviews, he was recommended to be promoted to lieutenant commander, the next-higher rank. But the commander of the Coast Guard's Personnel Service Center sent his case before a special board, which is deciding whether to deny the promotion — a move that would ensure an end to his Coast Guard career.

The special board has completed its evaluation and will soon send its recommendation to Homeland Security Secretary Janet A. Napolitano, whose department oversees the Guard and who will have final say.

Homeland Security didn't respond to multiple requests for comment, but Lt. Leone and his attorneys say they fear Ms. Napolitano is likely to follow the recommendations of the Coast Guard leadership.

Not a vindication

A Coast Guard spokesman told The Times that convening this kind of special board to evaluate a promotion is allowed under Coast Guard policy, although he did not say how often it occurs.

"The board has met, and the recommendations are under consideration," Coast Guard spokesman Carlos Diaz wrote in a lengthy response to questions from The Times.

The Coast Guard also points out that during Lt. Leone's military hearing, the investigating officer recommended dismissing all of the charges except one — finding reasonable grounds that Lt. Leone committed the crime of negligent dereliction of duty. As the co-pilot, that officer found, Lt. Leone should have told the pilot that he was flying the helicopter too low "under the circumstances of the flight," Mr. Diaz said.

As a result, the spokesman said, Lt. Leone cannot call the dismissal of criminal charges a full legal vindication even though the commanding officer decided not to pursue the lone charge

“He took on this case with vigor and ZERO FEAR of the government!”

"LITERALLY THE BEST MONEY I EVER SPENT!!!! The USAF charged my son with Article 92, Violate General Order and Article 128, Simple Assault. I spoke to many attorneys who said to me, "Your son will be convicted of the Simple Assault because putting lotion on someone's face is considered an assault as it is an unwanted touch." They all wanted me to work on a plea deal with the government that ended with my son being discharged, spending time in the brig and having a federal conviction for the rest of his life. Knowing that this just didn't warrant a federal conviction, bad conduct discharge and time in the brig, I was on a search to find an attorney who would look at this case for what it was: a couple of 19-21 year-old immature young men horse playing. I was looking for someone who would say something different; someone who would be able to look at the case from more than one view. When I spoke to Mr. Rinckey, I thought I was going to get the same ole speech, but to my surprise, I IMMEDIATELY felt at ease and I knew right then that he was going to be my attorney (not sure if he knew it at this time). He took on this case with vigor and ZERO FEAR of the government! He wanted them to know that this was NOT going to go away with any plea deal! And he went to work! Then, LITERALLY 2 DAYS BEFORE trail the government added an additional charge, which was Article 134, Unlawful Entry. Mr. Rinckey stayed focused, developed a plan, and off to trail we went. He was so prepared, calm and at ease. I remember him saying to me, "I am ready to try this case." And yesterday – 14 APR 2016 – my son was found NOT GUILTY on ALL CHARGES AND SPECIFICATIONS!!! Yesss!!! You know, it's always hard to find money for an attorney, but I learned one thing with this case. Although I thought we couldn't afford an attorney, the truth of the matter was that we couldn't afford NOT TO HAVE an attorney. I only wish I had found Mr. Rinckey sooner, but that's okay. I have found my ATTORNEY for life," Y.W. on Founding Partner on Greg Rinckey, Esq.

“He attacked my matter with the determination, attentiveness and professionalism that I would expect”

"Attorney Anthony Kuhn was able to negotiate the dismissal of involuntary administrative separation proceedings against me and arrange for me to voluntarily retire. After a second GOMOR was permanently filed in my personnel file, the Army informed me that I was facing involuntary separation. After missing my window to rebut the proceedings, I called Anthony Kuhn for assistance and he assured me that he would do everything in his power to negotiate a dismissal and voluntary retirement. He attacked my matter with the determination, attentiveness and professionalism that I would expect from a seasoned attorney and fellow combative Veteran. He made it clear from the start that he was personally vested in my matter. As a Sergeant Major and former client, I enthusiastically and unequivocally recommend Attorney and Veteran Anthony Kuhn to any fellow service member or Veteran with a pending Military Law matter," P.W. on Attorney Anthony Kuhn

“Mr. Greiner's professional demeanor, intelligence, and attention to detail certainly made the difference”

"Anyone facing a life altering dilemma has two choices: give up or carry on. Mr. Greiner not only helped me carry on, but professionally fought for my wellbeing above and beyond what was required of him. He represented me in my Defense Office of Hearings and Appeals (DOHA) court hearing recently. Not only did Mr. Greiner take over my case on short notice, but quickly gathered and reviewed all necessary documentation and information. In addition he arranged to meet with me in person and go over all the facts. He provided me with sound professional advice on moving forward in resolving my case."I am an industrial security professional with over 15 years of experience in handling security matters for the government. My security clearance provides me the access required, and without it I would be unable to continue in my career. As a single mother of two children that is a frightening thought."Mr. Greiner's professional demeanor, intelligence, and attention to detail certainly made the difference in the final ruling of my case. I was particularly impressed with his ability to deflect opposing counsel's arguments or mitigate them altogether. His years of experience and expertise shined through not only in court, but also during follow up communications with additional documentation requested by the administrative judge. He was a pleasure to work with and I highly recommend him, and have, to those seeking legal navigation in security clearance matters. My security clearance was granted thanks to his efforts. In closing Mr. Greiner is not only an asset to Tully Rinckey law firm, but a leader in his field that exceeded my expectations," J.L. on Attorney Gregory F. Greiner, Esq.
