Managing Partner Greg T. Rinckey, Esq. tells Fox News prosecutors would be "hard pressed" to charge Sgt. Bowe Bergdahl with desertion

Bergdahl's future uncertain; legal resolution could take years, say experts

Army Sgt. Bowe Bergdahl is back in America, but it will be months before his future takes shape, according to both experts in the military's legal system and people familiar with the treatment of long-term captives. After nearly five years in the hands of the Taliban and Haqqani network in Afghanistan and Pakistan, the American soldier was exchanged for five top Taliban operatives, underwent medical and psychological treatment at Landstuhl Regional Medical Center in Germany and, Friday morning, landed at a military base in San Antonio. There he will undergo treatment to reintegrate back into society -- or possibly military prison. Until his medical treatment is complete, a process that can last up to several months, it's unclear how the military will treat a soldier alleged to have willingly left his firebase in Afghanistan. There is a raft of legal options the Army can pursue that extend to as much as five years in prison. Or the military can wash its hands of the young soldier and administratively separate him. "My gut reaction is that he won't be court-martialed. Why? Politics." - Philip Cave, a military defense lawyer

"The jury is literally still out," said retired Maj. Gen. Charles Dunlap, a former judge advocate general of the Air Force. "We really don't know the charges, if there are any, against him. There needs to be more wringing of the facts before anything is decided." In the meantime, Bergdahl will be at Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio for additional medical and psychological treatment until doctors deem him ready to reunite with his family. During the final phase of the reintegration process for former prisoners of war, treatment can last from a few days to a few months. Medical professionals won't have a sense of how long Bergdahl will need until he starts treatment. Brooke Army Medical Center handles the Army's reintegration process for military personnel and contractors taken captive and helps them regain control of their life, including their schedule and meals. In 2008, the hospital treated three defense contractors who were taken hostage by Colombian guerillas and held for five years. While they were at Brooke Army for two weeks, military officials have said Bergdahl will likely need several months. "If you rush it at all, all your work will be out the window," said Arwen Consaul, a spokeswoman for Army South, which oversees Brooke Army Medical Center. Until the 28-year-old soldier finishes his reintegration process, Army investigators will not be able to question him closely about the circumstances surrounding his departure from his firebase in Eastern Afghanistan and resulting capture. Army officials have said that he has undergone briefings to glean intelligence about his captors and conditions. That information will not be used in a potential case against him, military officials have said. Top military officials have all promised a thorough review of Bergdahl's disappearance after his medical treatment is complete. "As Chairman [of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Martin] Dempsey indicated, the Army will then review this in a comprehensive, coordinated effort that will include speaking with Sgt. Bergdahl to better learn from him the circumstances of his disappearance and captivity," said Secretary of the Army John McHugh in a statement. "All other decisions will be made thereafter, and in accordance with appropriate regulations, policies and practices." An investigation into Bergdahl's absence was conducted for several months in the summer of 2009 after he vanished in June. All the members of his platoon were interviewed, as well as his company and battalion commanders, for a 15-6 report that remains classified. The military has refused to release the report and Bergdahl has yet to speak publicly. While the Army has promised a review, military officials have been tight-lipped about what it will entail and whether Bergdahl's platoon members will be questioned again. “He took on this case with vigor and ZERO FEAR of the government!”

"LITERALLY THE BEST MONEY I EVER SPENT!!!! The USAF charged my son with Article 92, Violate General Order and Article 128, Simple Assault. I spoke to many attorneys who said to me, "Your son will be convicted of the Simple Assault because putting lotion on someone's face is considered an assault as it is an unwanted touch." They all wanted me to work on a plea deal with the government that ended with my son being discharged, spending time in the brig and having a federal conviction for the rest of his life. Knowing that this just didn't warrant a federal conviction, bad conduct discharge and time in the brig, I was on a search to find an attorney who would look at this case for what it was: a couple of 19-21 year-old immature young men horse playing. I was looking for someone who would say something different; someone who would be able to look at the case from more than one view. When I spoke to Mr. Rinckey, I thought I was going to get the same ole speech, but to my surprise, I IMMEDIATELY felt at ease and I knew right then that he was going to be my attorney (not sure if he knew it at this time). He took on this case with vigor and ZERO FEAR of the government! He wanted them to know that this was NOT going to go away with any plea deal! And he went to work! Then, LITERALLY 2 DAYS BEFORE trail the government added an additional charge, which was Article 134, Unlawful Entry. Mr. Rinckey stayed focused, developed a plan, and off to trail we went. He was so prepared, calm and at ease. I remember him saying to me, "I am ready to try this case." And yesterday – 14 APR 2016 – my son was found NOT GUILTY on ALL CHARGES AND SPECIFICATIONS!!! Yesss!!! You know, it's always hard to find money for an attorney, but I learned one thing with this case. Although I thought we couldn't afford an attorney, the truth of the matter was that we couldn't afford NOT TO HAVE an attorney. I only wish I had found Mr. Rinckey sooner, but that's okay. I have found my ATTORNEY for life," Y.W. on Founding Partner on Greg Rinckey, Esq.

“He attacked my matter with the determination, attentiveness and professionalism that I would expect”

"Attorney Anthony Kuhn was able to negotiate the dismissal of involuntary administrative separation proceedings against me and arrange for me to voluntarily retire. After a second GOMOR was permanently filed in my personnel file, the Army informed me that I was facing involuntary separation. After missing my window to rebut the proceedings, I called Anthony Kuhn for assistance and he assured me that he would do everything in his power to negotiate a dismissal and voluntary retirement. He attacked my matter with the determination, attentiveness and professionalism that I would expect from a seasoned attorney and fellow combative Veteran. He made it clear from the start that he was personally vested in my matter. As a Sergeant Major and former client, I enthusiastically and unequivocally recommend Attorney and Veteran Anthony Kuhn to any fellow service member or Veteran with a pending Military Law matter," P.W. on Attorney Anthony Kuhn

“Mr. Greiner's professional demeanor, intelligence, and attention to detail certainly made the difference”

"Anyone facing a life altering dilemma has two choices: give up or carry on. Mr. Greiner not only helped me carry on, but professionally fought for my wellbeing above and beyond what was required of him. He represented me in my Defense Office of Hearings and Appeals (DOHA) court hearing recently. Not only did Mr. Greiner take over my case on short notice, but quickly gathered and reviewed all necessary documentation and information. In addition he arranged to meet with me in person and go over all the facts. He provided me with sound professional advice on moving forward in resolving my case."I am an industrial security professional with over 15 years of experience in handling security matters for the government. My security clearance provides me the access required, and without it I would be unable to continue in my career. As a single mother of two children that is a frightening thought."Mr. Greiner's professional demeanor, intelligence, and attention to detail certainly made the difference in the final ruling of my case. I was particularly impressed with his ability to deflect opposing counsel's arguments or mitigate them altogether. His years of experience and expertise shined through not only in court, but also during follow up communications with additional documentation requested by the administrative judge. He was a pleasure to work with and I highly recommend him, and have, to those seeking legal navigation in security clearance matters. My security clearance was granted thanks to his efforts. In closing Mr. Greiner is not only an asset to Tully Rinckey law firm, but a leader in his field that exceeded my expectations," J.L. on Attorney Gregory F. Greiner, Esq.
